Figure 6. The effect of the concentration of the polymer solution on the morphology of the film. The polymer solution was prepared by dissolving 0.1 g of PAA in 10 mL of water. The concentration of the polymer solution was varied from 0.1% to 0.5%. The film was casted on a glass slide and dried at room temperature for 24 h. The morphology of the film was observed by SEM. The scale bar is 10 μm.

A horizontal strip of seven small, square, black and white photographs showing various stages of a plant's growth or development, possibly a seedling or young plant. The images are arranged in a row, separated by thin white lines. The first image on the left shows a small, dark, rectangular object, possibly a seed or a very young seedling. The subsequent images show the plant growing larger, with more visible leaves and stems. The final image on the right shows a more developed plant with several leaves and a prominent stem. The overall appearance is that of a time-lapse or a series of photographs documenting the early stages of plant growth.
